

Indiana University Theatre/Neal-Marshall Education Center Bloomington, Indiana

Project Name:	Indiana University Theatre/Neal-Marshall Education Center
Project Location:	Indiana University, Bloomington, Indiana
Project Cost:	$30 million
Project Data:	The 130,000 square foot facility will house the Department of Theatre and Drama and the Neal-Marshall Education Center. The areas occupied by the Department of Theatre and Drama include a proscenium theatre, an experimental theatre, design and production spaces, instruction and rehearsal studios, and offices for faculty and staff. The Neal-Marshall Education Center occupies areas that include a library, a tutorial center, rehearsal and performances spaces, lounges, and offices for faculty, staff and student organizations.
Owner:	Mr. Robert Meadows University Architect University Architect's Office 700 North Walnut Grove Bloomington, Indiana 47405 812-855-3525
Start/Completion:	Design: July 1997 to April 1999 Construction: December 1998 to Summer 2001
Services:	Structural and Civil Engineering
Consultants:	Fink Roberts & Petrie, Inc. Joseph R. Loring & Associates

